A reader asked lately how to keep a gas oven from rusting. This is the way I manage mine: When I have reasted ment, before I put the oven away I heat it over the stove for a few minnies, then sot it on the table, and with a clean a bite rag dipped in the meat dripping I rub the oven thoroughly, inside and outside, door, top and bottom. If there is for much grease, throw away the rags that have absorbed it. If the fat does not keep only until I get through, I put the even on the slove and heat it again. The secret is to rub it while it is hot and never let steam get cold in it and rust. After cooking things that read, dry the oven over the stove for a few minutes before putting it away. Keep in a dry place.

I would suggest rubbing with mutton at or beef fat (warm), and have the oven warm. It would work the same as my way.

I did not see any answer about this,

Will you or some of your readers give me a recipe of something to keep cider tweet, and from getting hard?

We all loow that salleytic acid is used openly and freely for this purpose. Perhaps some reader can tell "H. H." of a less hurtful preservative?

I see a great many housekeepers have much trouble with bed-bugs. Now is the time to clean the house and beds to be rid of them before the spring weather sets in again, and the engs hatch out. I lived in Colorado Springs two years, and had my share of them in rented houses, I bought brimstone (It is stronger than sulphus), filled a bucket with a sulphus), filled a bucket with a sulphus, filled a bucket with ushes, then put live coals on top, broke up about a cupful of brimstons and put on the coals; shut the room tight and let it burn for half a day or over night. Then table hundry soap, put it in hot water with it is soft enough to spread and fill every hole and crack in bed and wood-work in room, and leave it there to harden. It leaves no place for them to get in. Try this and there will be no bother next summer.

A CON-JANT READER.

Will you be a good gentus to me and Will you be a good genust to me and tell me how to remove spots from a black brilliantine skirt! I put it on ne♥ and passed through a cafe in Berlin, A stupid man spilled a cup of chocolate with whipped cream is it all over the with whipped cream is it all over the front of my dress. It happened three menths ago, but being on a touring trip I could not attend to it. M. M. Sponge well with two parts alcohol and one 'part warm water. Itub dry and cover the spot with powdered French chalk, as much as the stuff will take up. If you can apply the chalk to the wrong side of the brilliantine, so much the better. Leave on all night, Lay then two thickness of tissue paper over the chalk, and press with a hot fron. Should nuc chalk leave a faint blur, wipe of with alcohol.

Your series of articles about the use of formaldehyde for destroying vermin has interested me, and I wish to add a has interested me, and I wish to add a word of testimony. Several months age we wished to get rid of bed-bugs and cockroaches in a small bed-room, kitchen, and dening-room, and decided to try formadehyde. In order to know whether this method is effective or not, we placed several live bugs and roaches in a glass covered with a thin cloth through which at the captives was dead, has did those at the riv seem to have suffered much fiscomfort. The only noticeable effect was that the rooms needed airing for about two months afterward.

EXPERIMENTER.

Another witness in the formadehyde case! Thus far the testimony is pretty evenly balanced, with a slight till of the peales against the new drug as a very min destroyer. The evidence does not in the least affect the fact that it is one of the best fumagating agents known to the profession, and a valuable decodorizer where evil smells cling to close to or pooms, and haunt the housemether with the dreed of "condag lils," Where the fact does not in the decodorizer of the decodorizer where collismed and parings. General Education Board Organized in Washington.

ITS OBJECTS SET FORTH

Betterment of Rural Free Schools in Southern States is Chief Purpose of the Organization-Will Receive Funds for This.

(By 'Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 29 .- The General Education Board recently char tered by Congress for the promotion of educational work in the United States, or ganized here to-day. The board consists of W. V. Buldwin, Jr., Wallace Buttrick J. L. M. Curry, Frederick T. Gates, Dan-iel C. Gilman, Morris K. Jessup, Robert J. L. M. Curry, Frederick T. Gates, Daniel C. Gilman, Morris K. Jessup, Robert C. Ogden, Waiter H. Hago, George Foster Peabody, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Albert Shaw. Mr. Baldwin was elected chairman, Mr. Peabody treasurer, and Mr. Buttrick secretary and legislative officer. The business offices of the board will be at No. 148 Nassau Street, New York city. One of its main objects is the promotion of rural free schools in the Southern States, although the charter contemplates educational work in all parts of the United States. Pending the granting of the charter the board has been at work for a year under articles of association. At the legisning of its work "a generous friend," as stated by the board, subscribed $100,000 a year for a period of ten years, which sum, the board says, has enabled the demonstration of the possibility of effective work and the practicability of philanthropic co-operation with the public authorities. This donor was Mr. Rockefeller. Other soms of money smaller in amount also have been received, A recent report that Yast sums of money are to be placed at the disposal of the board is announced cilicially to be absolutely without foundation.

officially to be absolutely without foundation.

ANNOUNCEMENT.
The boars to-day issued the following canonincement:

"In developing its constructive programme to aid rural schools the board has counseled with State and county school authorities. State superintendents of public instruction in Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Louislana have held conferences of all their county superintendents, at which the executive officer of the General Education Board has been a most welcome guest. He has accepted an invitation to meet the county superintendents of Florida at Gainesville, in that State, next week. The knowledge thus acquired and the relations established have convinced the board that the opportunities are now at hand for wise and prudent investment of large sums of money to promote the education of all the people throughout the Southern States. The fact is demonstrated that no wiser or more patriotic opportunity for philantrany is before the people of the Uniter parts of the Uniter Prepared. or more patriotic opportunity for philan-thropy is before the people of the United States.

"The board is now organized to receive funds designated for the further prosecution of the work begun, to act as trustee for the holding and investment of funds designated for the benefit of institutions of learning, and to pay over the annual income of such funds under the terms of the trust; to see that funds given conditionally to institutions through the beard are disbursed in strict accordance with the conditions. Funds held by the General Education Board are free of taxation."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The Board of Trustees of the Peabody Education Fund held a special meeting in this city to-day for the purpose of formulating a plan by which the work of the board and that of the Education Board, which is working along the same lines, shall not be duplicated. The following members were present: Mr. Samuel E. Green, Massachusetts; James T. Porter, Tennessee; J. P. Morgan, New York; Chief-Justice Fuller, of the Supreme Court; Wm. A. Courtenay, South Carolina; H. M. Somerville, Alabama; Charles E. Fenner, Louisiana; ex-President D. C. Gliman, of Johns Hopkins University; George Peabody Wetmore, Rhode Island; Seustor Hoar, Massachusetts; ex-Attorney General Richard A. Olney, ex-Secretary of the Interior Hoke Smith, Georgia; Right Rev. William Doane, of New York. The general subject of education in the South was discussed. The most important action taken was the adoption of the following resolution:

"That in the opinion of the Board of Trustees, the fund in its hands, or a Trustees, the fund in its hands, or a portion of the income thereof, should be applied, so far as legal and practicable, to the establishment and maintenance of a teachers college, to be called the Peabody College for Teachers, at such a point in the Southern States as may be found advisable. That a committee of five, to be appointed by the chairman, is hereby directed to confer with any of other boards or persons interested in the subject matter and to report at the next meeting of the board a plan for carrying into effect the purpose and object above stated, and that the committees be authorized to call to their aid such specialists as may by them be deemed accessary. 1. Now about your way of making fruit fellies. I make them by your process exclusively, and recently have been highly complimented. The only difference is I steam my fruit in one of those new steamors. Will that do as well as cooking it in a stone jar, or would not a jelly press be proferable to either?

2. But, try as I may, I cannot get my peach jelly stiff. What is the cause of it? Which are the best kinds of peaches for follying purposes, and how ripe should they be? Which is the Lest flavoring for apricot jelly—that is, in your opinion?

3. Why is it that my quince marmalade is not stiff enough to cut with a knife? Is it because I use less than a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit? I cook it as takek as I possibly can without scorething.

4. Lastly and finally. My hands are too small and lack the strength to beat my cap or pound cake until it is as light as it should be. How would it do procure a

The Peabody fund capital is now $2,-100,000. To-day's proceedings show that a final distribution of the Peabody fund is now in contemplation, although such final winding up of affairs will require the second of the sec a year before a final and satisfactory basis can be agreed upon. The some mittee appointed under the resolution regarding co-operation late this afternoon conferred with a committee from the General Education Board, consisting of Herbert C. Ogden, of New York; George Boats Peabody, of New York, and Wm. H. Baldwin, Jr., of New York, and Wm. H. Baldwin, Jr., of New York, at this conference, the subject of education in the South was generally discussed and methods for avoidance of duplication of work by the two bodies were talked over, but no definite line of action will be formulated.

A Pause in the Venezuelan Negotiations.

THE ALLIES ARE INSISTENT

Demand That They Have Preferential Treatment in Settlement of Claims. Minister Bowen Has Asked for More Specific Instructions.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C. Jan. 29.—There was a pause in the Venezuelan negotiations that approached perilously near a breach, and the end is not yet in sight. It all grows out of the attitude of the allies in insisting upon preferential treatment for themselves in the settlement of their claims.

As foreshadowed in the London despatches, Mr. Bowen has been informed of the decision of the allies to insist upon adhering to this claim, and he has come to a stand in his work for the moment. For half an hour he was in consultation with Secretary lia; at the State Department to-day, though the Secretary is taking no part in the negotiations in any effects way.

Mr. Bowen is believed to have taken steps to acquaint President Castro with the demands of the allies—a sure—sign that these demands exceed, in spirit at least, the concessions that Mr. Rowen expected to make. Possibly trest and enlarged powers will be necessary to enable him to meet the semands.

Content With Equality.

(Ib Associated Press )

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Great Britain, Germany and Italy have sent a joint reply to Minister Bowen, refusing to accept the proposal that all the countries having claims against Venezuela should be placed on an equality with the three cooperating Powers.

Venezuela's answer to this communication is expected to arrive here to-moreow. If Mr. Bowen can agree to give preference to the claims of Great Britain, Germany and Italy, the blockade is likely to be raised at once.

Should Venezuela demur or complications arise, such as a protest from some of the other Powers, the negotiations may be indefinitely prolonged.

Authoritative opinion here differs regarding the outcome. The German officials adhere to the belief that when President Castro sees that the three Powers are seconds.

President Castro sees that the three Powers are so completely unanimous and Powers are so completely unanimous and insistent upon preference he will agree to it. The British Foreign Office adopts a non-committal attitude, not altogetier without a pessimistic trend. All, however, unite in declaring that after all the expense and trouble of the blockade their claims would not be equitably treated if they were put on the same basis as those of nations who have not taken steps to recover their debts or re-establish their prestige in Venezuela.

BURNED TO DEATH

Child Fatally Injured Before the Mother Could Aid It.

Could Aid It.

Before her mother could get up a flight of stairs to her assistance, the two-year-old child of Julia Morton, a colored woman, living in an alley on South Foushee Street between Cary and Canal, was burned horribly Sunday night to an extent that she died Wednesday evening from her injuries.

The accident happened about the time of the Tenth Street fire, which drew many to see streets. Everybody had left the house by the mother, who herself finally went outside to go to the bottom of the stairs for something. The child attempted to follow, but her mother motioned her back with the injunction "Go in to the fire, baby, and keep warm."

Literally and with horrible results the child went in to the fire. But a moment or two had passed when the mother heard agonized screams. She climbed the rickety stairs as fast as she could, and burst into the room, but only to find that she was too late. The baby was the center of a mass of flames, and was suffering terribly. The Morion woman did all she could-pulled the burning clothes off and narrowly escaping serious injury herself—but it was of the avail.

After lingering until Wednesday ove-ning at 6 o'clock the child died.

The explosion occurred half an hour after operations had begun for the day, and is believed to have been due to an accumulation of natural gas in the cellar beneath the section of the factory desiroyed, There were a score of men at work in the several departments in that section of the plant, and scarcely one escaped injury of some sort.

The explosion was terrible, completely wrecking a section of the building 50x100 feet and two stories in height.

The dead and injured were burled in the ruins, and the peril of those yet living was increased by flames following the explosion and the escape of large quantities of ammonia stored in the basement. The fire was soon extinguished and the work of rescue began. Foliz, Matthews, Miller and Piepenbrink were dead when taken out.

Senate Military Committee Determined to Keep Things Ready for Fight.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 29.—The Venezuelan situation, and especially the attitude of Germany, was discussed by the Senate Committee on Military Affairs to-day, and the situation influenced the committee on some matters pertaining to the army appropriation bill, among which was the decision to accept the House provision relating to transports, so that they would be retained in the service.

The committee also provided for an increase of electriclans, skilled gunners, machinists and sergeants and others who take care of and handle guns in the seacoust defenses.

Some other additions were made in the hill with a view of improving the service, The discussion was general and carnest, and the conclusion reached, as stated by a member of the committee, was that the United States should make it plain that the honor and dignity of the country would be maintained, and that Germany should not be allowed to "binf" the government by any attitude she might assume.

The bill, which was reported to the Senate to-day, contains the Root staff bill, as reported from the Committee on Military Affairs some time ago; also the retirement bill, which also was reported from the same committee.
